About this Class and “Contractor Quality Control” (CQC)

The Corps of Engineers requires all contractors performing construction for them to comply with the “Contractor Quality Control” (CQC) requirements in their contracts. In cooperation with the construction industry, the Corps developed this training course for the purpose of familiarizing all quality management personnel with the Corps of Engineers, Construction Quality Management (CQM) policies and procedures.

The course details the requirements of the contractor personnel and the government personnel assigned to the project and the reasons for those requirements. The effectiveness of the CQM system is enhanced when all personnel are aware of their responsibilities and the reasons for them. To ensure the success of the CQC system it is a contract requirement that the contractor’s quality control representative take this training.

A certificate is issued upon successful completion of CQM and is good for 5 years and is valid for USACE, NAVY, and other federal agency projects.
